THE CASE

Why it sells.

Liberty is the commercial retractable — restaurants, storefronts, office entries, and outdoor seating. Same lateral-arm advantage of an open span underneath, with the customization a business needs to put its name on the shade it just bought.

Graphics are the upsell	Custom fabric colors, lettering, logos, and graphics. For a business customer the awning is signage that also makes shade, which changes what the quote is competing against.
Open span below	No front support posts means no columns in the middle of a seating area or a doorway. On a restaurant patio that difference is measured in seats.
Commercial hardware	Aluminum and stainless components, retractable arms, spring-loaded shoulders, and powder-coated extruded aluminum frames — specified for commercial exposure.
